

Call for Portuguese speaking interviewers

The Sociology department of the Erasmus University Rotterdam is looking for Portuguese speaking interviewers to work with us in a large scale international research project. The project 'Theorizing the Evolution of European Migration Systems' (THEMIS) is carried out in cooperation with the Universities of Oxford, Oslo and Lisbon, and deals with migration from Brazil, Morocco, and Ukraine to The Netherlands, Great-Britain, Portugal and Norway. For more information, please consult: <http://www.imi.ox.ac.uk/research-projects/themis/index.html>.

From January through March, we need Portuguese speaking interviewers to conduct structured interviews with Brazilian immigrants in Amsterdam. Interview questions mainly concern immigrant's migration histories. The Brazilian immigrants will come to a central location in Amsterdam that has been specifically set up for our research purposes. Together with other interviewers, you will be stationed at this interview location to do the interviews and to enter the data you gathered in our system. We have two 4 to 6 hour sessions on weekdays in the afternoon, and one session on Saturday.

Are you, or do you know someone who:

- Wants to conduct interviews with Brazilian immigrants in Amsterdam?
- Masters the Portuguese language sufficiently to conduct the interviews;
- Is available at least one day per week;
- Has affinity with (social sciences) research;
- Wants to earn some extra money;
- Wants to invest in a diverse CV?

We offer interview training and a proper salary.

Apply?

Send your CV and short motivation before Wednesday the 14th of December to Masja van Meeteren (vanmeeteren@fsw.eur.nl) or call 010-4082092 for more information.